

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

YESTERDAY.
Mr. C. C. Pinckney at Woman's Club.
Meeting of Old Dominion Chapter, D. A. R., at No. 811 East Franklin Street.
TO-DAY.
Marriage of Miss Juanita Nelson Cohen to Mr. Benjamin Harry Sondheim at 8:30 P. M. in Jefferson Club.

Mr. Pinckney at Woman's Club.

Mr. Charles Cotesworth Pinckney, who was the speaker for the afternoon at the Woman's Club yesterday, dealt with a highly interesting subject in his speech of "The Religion and Literature of Ancient Egypt" with a familiarity that betokened careful study and wide research, and touched his subject with an added interest when he drew parallels between the stories and legends of the ancient Egyptians and those of the modern English and Americans.

Passing to a study of the Egyptian religion, he described the manner of worship of Isis and Osiris, and the absolute devotion with which they were regarded by the ancients. Guests of the afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart Bryan, Mrs. St. George Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. William Gray, Mrs. Philip Shields, Miss Annie Vandegrift, of Gloucester county; Miss Mary Lewis, of Sweet Springs, W. Va.; Mr. Henry Sydney Harrison, Mrs. Mosby, of Bedford county; Miss Rose Caperton, of West Virginia.

Miss Thomson Honored.

A beautifully appointed supper was given Saturday evening at Lakeside Country Club in honor of Miss Rosemond Thomson, of Andover, Mass., who is the guest in Richmond of Miss Julie Osterloh.

Covers were laid for six, and the guests were Miss Thomson, Miss Lilian Binford, and Miss Eugene Selden Taylor; Messrs. John Cutchins, Robert Peyton and Cloyd Kent.

Miss Shields a Guest.

Miss Hattie Shields, of this city, was among the guests at a charming afternoon tea given February 24th on board the United States ship Virginia. Lieutenant Fitzpatrick was host and his guests were Miss Shields, Miss Matthews, of Shreveport, La.; Miss H. Merritt, of Norfolk; Miss A. Vaughan, Lieutenant-Commander Latimer, Lieutenant Gardiner and Volte, and Ensign Brooks.

Benefit Tea.

A silver tea will be given next Tuesday afternoon, March 5th, from 5 to 7 o'clock, at 1363 West Avenue. Missions needs will go to the State Mission Society of the First Baptist Church, an organization which works entirely for the evangelization of Virginia.

A program of music will be rendered by Mrs. Evan Chesterman and other artists and refreshments will be served. Misses Myra Chambers, Henningham Elliott, Ida Fleming, Juliet Martin and several other young ladies will serve and assist in entertaining.

To Give Tea.

The Earnest Workers' Society of Grace Street Presbyterian Church will give a silver tea in the home of Mrs. Trent No. 616 West Grace Street, on Thursday afternoon next from 4:30 to 7:30 o'clock. The house will be very prettily decorated and refreshments will be served by the following young ladies: Misses Clara Smith, Lucy Coulter, Louella Miller, Lucile Mause and others.

A program of music will be rendered by Mrs. Clarence Cadot and Mr. Douglas Gordon. Miss Ollie Belle Harwood will give a dramatic reading. A pleasant evening is anticipated.

Annual Pound Party.

The board of lady managers of the treat for the sick are making arrangements to give a cordial reception to the guests of that worthy cause on Thursday night from 12 M. to 6 P. M. This time the forced institution has made a good thing of the past year's gift over 3,500 lbs. of free treatment to needy sufferers. Donations in aid of this work will be gratefully received.

Miss Gammon Entertained.

Miss Alice Gammon, of Fredericksburg, who has been the guest of Mrs. Ann Jamieson at the University of Virginia, has been pleased to entertain on several occasions during her stay here. Several charming teas have been given in her honor. Her program of last week was made up of a Colonial dance, a Washington Birthday party and several other social affairs.

Richmond Tourists.

A party of tourists who are spending the winter season in Florida and at the various Gulf resorts includes Messrs. T. Adams and family, of Richmond; Mr. H. O. Featherston, of Lynchburg, Va.; Miss Lena Ramsey, of Marshall, Va.; Dr. and Mrs. Lee Lawrence, of Orlando, Fla.; and Mr. and Mrs. Wordsworth, of Georgia. Many enjoyable boating and fishing excursions have occupied this week very pleasantly, but the climax of excitement came recently when their pleasure boat was disabled and beached some miles from land in the Gulf of Mexico.

A party of seventeen persons, including the Virginians mentioned above, spent a delightful day camping on one of the Florida keys. Returning home late in the afternoon, the boat's engine broke down suddenly. Sails were resorted to, but the breeze began to fall while they were still far from shore, and the entire party faced a night on the Gulf without food or drink. By hard work and careful steering, the boat was finally brought through an inlet within the reefs, and was safely landed on a small island, where the kind fishermen provided refreshment and a larger boat to take the party across the bay.

They arrived safely at Sarasota, their headquarters, about 11 o'clock in the evening, and found the townfolk and their friends very uneasy concerning their delayed appearance.

Chapter Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Old Dominion Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held yesterday afternoon in the home of the regent, No. 811 East Grace Street. Reports from a dance recently given at the Hermitage Golf Club showed the affair to have been

Life and Death.

By DUNCAN CAMPBELL SCOTT.

Other selections from this author, his portrait, autograph and biographical sketch, have already been printed in this series.

I thought of death beside the lonely sea
That went beyond the limit of my sight,
Seeming the image of his mastery,
The semblance of his huge and gloomy might.

But firm beneath the sea went the great earth,
With sober bulk and adamant hold,
The water but a mantle for her girl,
That played about her splendor fold on fold.

And life seemed like this dear familiar shore
That stretched from the wet sand's last way crease,
Beneath the sea's remote and sombre roar,
To inland stillness and the wilds of peace.

Death seems triumphant only here and there;
Life is the sovereign presence everywhere.

This series began in The Times-Dispatch Sunday, Oct. 11, 1932. One is published each day.

a success. It was decided to send contributions to the Jamestown hospital committee and to the Jamestown committee of the national organization.
